THE CHIBA HERALD

The deceased man at Body Bank is still a thrilling mystery.

Crime rages relentlessly

By Mark Shore

The crime level in the city has touched a disheartening record this week. It was only a few days ago that a man was found laying down in his living room, covered in blood, his head exploded like a melon. A few hours later, a body -still unnamed- was discovered in the slums area, probably killed. Not to mention the latest news of a freelance reporter now missing for several days.

[Whose corpse is
at the body bank?](#)
